

Caroline Allen – Education Inductee

Caroline Allen was an educator in county schools for 30 years. She dedicated her life to the preservation of local history as the president of the Carver-Hill Memorial and Historical Society. She led the drive to establish the Carver-Hill Museum, fund its new building and serve as director.

Jane Strickland – Humanitarian Inductee

Jane was the first female executive of the Mental Health Association, raising awareness and reducing the stigma of treatment. She helped establish Shelter House and has served with dedication at Sharing and Caring and Healthy Start Coalition.

2001 Hall of Fame Inductees

Caroline Allen –
Education Inductee

Gladys Milton –
Pioneer Inductee

Jane Strickland –
Humanitarian Inductee

Marnie Tate –
Contemporary Inductee

Gladys Milton – Pioneer Inductee

Gladys Milton (1924-1999) Established a midwifery clinic in 1976 and as Northwest Florida's only midwife, made health care available to poor rural women. Over a 40 year period she delivered 3000 children educating women about the necessity of hygiene and care of newborns. She was the first Okaloosa County woman elected to the state of Florida Women's Hall of Fame in Tallahassee. Pioneer, inducted posthumously 2001.

Marnie Tate – Contemporary Inductee

Marnie Tate was active with the FWB Chamber of Commerce since 1976, first female president in 1986, lifetime member for signing up 100 members. She led the effort to establish the 911 service in Okaloosa County. A top agent locally and nationally with Northwestern Mutual Life.